Playground Apparatus that is SAFE

Above we show a pipe coupling—a most commonplace detail of construction. But observe that it is designed and built so that it is practically unbreakable. This detail only serves to illustrate the principle upon which all MEDART apparatus is built. It must be so—the lives of children may depend on the strength of the apparatus.

Considered in this light, it must be seen that MEDART apparatus cannot be sold on a price basis. But it is sold on an economy basis—thorough construction for the sake of safety and long life of the apparatus go hand in hand. In buying playground apparatus, divide the cost by the years of service it will give, and MEDART apparatus will be your choice.

Medart Service

Medart Engineering Service is given freely without cost or obligation or thought toward immediate gain. Whether your plans are extensive or limited you will find it to your advantage to avail yourself of the experience we have gained during fifty years' playground planning and building.

Send for Catalog "L"

Catalog "L" is undoubtedly one of the most complete treatises available on playgrounds and playground planning. It is really a textbook. When you send for it please outline in brief just what your problem is—you will have our earnest and intelligent co-operation.

What Did the Playground and Recreation Association of America Do Last Year?

A Stock-Taking of Twelve Months' Service,
December 1st, 1919—November 30th, 1920

When Dr. Alice Masarykova, daughter of the president of Czecho-Slovakia, asked the Playground and Recreation Association of America to send workers to organize playgrounds and recreation centers throughout the republic it was not possible to comply with the request. The Association did, however, send literature which has been translated into the language of the people and which is being used in promoting the remarkable play programs which are being put into effect.

Those who are supporting the work of the Playground and Recreation Association of America are thus interpreting to the Czecho-Slovakians as well as to thousands of boys and girls and adults of America the values of life-giving play.

Not only Czecho-Slovakia but Japan, China, Russia, Poland and South America were all represented last year in a total of more than 7,000 letters received asking for suggestions, advice and literature. From every state in the union came these appeals for aid. There is no way of measuring the indirect but growing influence of the Playground and Recreation Association of America upon the leisure time life of the people.

This correspondence service—the answering of thousands of inquiries on every possible phase of the recreation movement—is but one of the channels through which the Association is working.

Channels of Service

During the first year the Association has maintained and strengthened all its departments. The conducting of the National Physical Education Service at Washington; the sending of field secretaries into communities to conduct campaigns and help cities establish year-round recreation systems; the correspondence and consultation service; the publication and distribution of literature; the employment service; the supplying of publicity material, photographs and cuts; the promotion of athletic badge tests—all these forms of service have shown an increase which has demonstrated in a very practical manner the importance which America is placing upon its hours of leisure.

NATIONAL PHYSICAL EDUCATION SERVICE

During 1920 this service, established at the request of the National Committee on Physical Education of the United States Bureau of Education, assisted in securing legislation for physical education in Virginia, Mississippi, Kentucky, Georgia and Alabama. In three of these states full time state directors of physical education have been employed. The amount of special appropriations being expended in the five states is $61,500, while it is estimated that more than $100,000 in increased municipal appropriations have resulted from these laws.

Federal Aid for Physical Education. In addition to the promotion of state legislation the National Physical Education Service has been working during 1920 to secure the enactment of the Fess Capper National Physical Education Bill, proposing federal co-operation with the states in extending the opportunities of physical education to all the children of the nation. Expressions of support for this measure have been secured from a large number of prominent individuals and organizations throughout the country.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF THE FIELD DEPARTMENT

During the twelve months' period covered by this report six field secretaries have been at work conducting campaigns and helping municipalities to secure appropriations and plan their year-round recreation programs. In spite of the fact that a part of the field workers' time has been used for training new workers and for other purposes not directly connected with campaigns, eight cities and one county have been helped to establish year-round recreation work with superintendents of recreation employed to take charge of the play grounds, recreation centers and community wide activities developed. These cities are:

Chester County, Pennsylvania*	Lancaster, Pennsylvania
Ely, Minnesota	Phoenixville, Pennsylvania
Middletown, Ohio	Reading, Pennsylvania *
Altoona, Pennsylvania	York, Pennsylvania
	Syracuse, New York

---

* Recreation superintendents have been appointed since December 1st, 1920.

The work done in these cities involves not merely the laying of foundations for a year's activities but for a permanent work developing from year to year, growing constantly in influence and strength.

In Terms of Human Values. What in terms of human values has the establishment of year-round recreation in eight cities and one county meant to the people of these communities? Through the work of the Field Department more than half a million people, many of them foreign-born have been given an opportunity to share with their neighbors at playgrounds and recreation centers and in community gatherings of all kinds a social and recreational life which to thousands has come as a new conception. Hundreds have found through participation a new channel of self-expression. More than $60,000 of municipal and private funds have been released to serve the leisure time interests of the people, and property and school houses valued at many times that amount and previously unused for a large part of the time, are now being utilized for the social, recreational and cultural interests of the people to whom the facilities belong.

Other Cities Helped

Follow-up Work. Important as it has been to extend the field work of the Association to new cities, equally essential has been the task of the field secretaries in giving help to cities where field work has previously been conducted. Through this assistance increased appropriations have been secured in some cities and aid given in filling vacancies occurring among workers. In one city where year-round recreation had been discontinued for a number of years the work was reestablished under a competent superintendent of recreation with a greatly increased budget. Very significant, too, is the service which the field secretaries have rendered in giving the superintendent and his governing board the benefit of the experiences of other cities and of new methods of work.

Among the cities which have been helped in this way during the past year are:

Paterson, New Jersey	Port Chester, New York
Red Bank, New Jersey	Utica, New York
Beacon, New York	Johnstown, Pennsylvania
New Rochelle, New York	West Chester, Pennsylvania

Extending the Service. More than a score of other cities have been helped during the year by visits and consultations. In some instances, as in the case of Jackson, Tennessee, where the Association was requested by the Red Cross to send a field worker, brief studies of local situations have been made and the foundations laid for field work. Some of the cities aided in this way by field secretary visits are:

Middletown, Connecticut	Monmouth County, New Jersey
Cambridge, Massachusetts	Little Falls, New York
Dalton, Massachusetts	Newburgh, New York
Salem, Massachusetts	Chester, Pennsylvania
Red Wing, Minnesota	Jackson, Tennessee
Asbury Park, New Jersey	Charleston, West Virginia
Atlantic City, New Jersey	Clarksburg, West Virginia
Middletown, New Jersey	Huntington, West Virginia
	Wheeling, West Virginia

Legislation The passage of "home-rule" acts enabling cities to conduct year-round systems of recreation on a municipal basis which during the three years previous to December 1st, 1919, the Association was able to secure in six states, has helped to make possible the splendid development during the past year. Four of the Pennsylvania cities which in the last twelve months have established year-round work took advantage of the "home-rule" law passed in that state in 1919.

The efforts of one of the field secretaries have resulted in the securing of an amendment to the New York "Home Rule" law giving certain powers needed by various cities in the state conducting municipal recreation.

Work done in cooperation with other agencies in making a comprehensive study of Monmouth County, New Jersey, has shown the necessity for an amendment to the state law permitting the creation of recreation commissions. Steps have been taken to secure the passage of this amendment. Similarly, to help cities in West Virginia and Ohio, home rule bills will be introduced during this session of the legislature. Plans have been made to help a number of cities secure charter amendments which will make possible recreation systems.

The Association is pushing its home-rule recreation legislative program as rapidly as possible. This legislation is of fundamental importance to all cities, and the experience of the Association can be utilized most effectively in helping to prepare the way through legislative measures for a broad development.

Special Forms of Service

A Community House Project. A particularly interesting piece of work was undertaken in Dalton, Massachusetts, where at the request of a group interested in the erection of a community house, a brief study was made and recommendations offered for the planning and maintenance of the house. Favorable action has been taken upon the recommendations and $200,000 made available for the erection, maintenance and partial endowment of the building, this sum to be supplemented by funds raised by the citizens of Dalton.

A County Plan. The plan worked out in Chester County, Pennsylvania, represents an interesting development in methods of organization for recreation. Here a County Recreation Board created under the Home Rule act secured for Pennsylvania in 1919 through the activities of the Association, working through a year-round superintendent with a budget of $6,000 raised by private subscriptions for the first year's work, will seek to organize recreational activities in the smaller communities of the County. Thus the experience of the Association is helping to make work possible in an increasing number of rural and small communities.

A Cooperative Undertaking. In cooperation with the New York Prison Association the Field Department made a study of juvenile delinquency in Rome, New York, and submitted recommendations for the development of recreation as a preventive of delinquency. Rome is now providing community wide recreation both for its children and its adult citizens.

The Accomplishments of One City

What, in concrete terms, are the results to a city of the organizing and advisory service of the Association? What facilities can the Association help local communities to discover or to create? What activities can cities be aided in developing?

The experience of West Chester, Pennsylvania, one of the cities in which the Field Department helped to establish work and to which a number of visits have since been made, tells the story of the local application of the Association's service.

Here the Association supplied organizing service to the value of approximately $1,477. The first year's report of the superintendent of recreation shows the following activities:

Playgrounds—The opening of playgrounds during the evening as well as during the day, with a playground program including the use of the YMCA swimming pool, hikes, nature study classes, story telling, and dramatic activities.

Special Events—such as community picnics; camp suppers; twilight baseball games; games for adults as well as children; community sings conducted by volunteer leaders and attended by from two thousand to three thousand people; concerts given once a week by the West Chester band; the organization of a boys' club; thrift night.

Special Celebrations—of Columbus Day, Hallowe'en, Christmas and other special days.

Recreation Centers—with various forms of recreation and physical training, sings, basketball games, open forums, musicals, lectures, special classes in cooking, English and other subjects. The community centers served as the meeting place of such organizations as the Boy Scouts, American Legion, Home and School League and provided facilities for games for industrial workers from factories as well as for boys and girls from the schools. Volunteers trained by the superintendent of recreation assisted.

OTHER SERVICE CHANNELS

The past year has brought a greatly increased demand upon headquarters for service which can be rendered through its Employment Bureau, through the answering of special inquiries and requests for information, through publishing and distributing literature and through other available service channels.

Employment Service

Because of the recognized importance of leadership, without which no successful work is possible, the Association has for many years felt it an essential part of its work to conduct an employment service through which contacts might be made between officials desiring workers and workers wishing positions. Special emphasis has been laid upon this during the past twelve months, and several trips have been taken by a headquarters worker in an effort to find people particularly well qualified for recreation work. The total number of positions referred to the Association during the past year has been 251. The request for service of this kind has involved the writing of hundreds of letters and the holding of conferences with many individuals, a large number of whom have wanted advice along vocational lines.

Correspondence and Consultation

Correspondence. The inquiries received by the Association during the past twelve months on every conceivable phase of the leisure time field have come from a wide variety of sources, including local groups in all fields of service, city officials, governmental departments and private citizens not only in every state of the union but in foreign countries. In answer to these inquiries literature has been sent to approximately 6,000 people and letters containing information went to a still greater number. The fact that so many letters and such a quantity of literature have been sent to individuals sufficiently interested in matters relating to recreation to write the Association indicates something of the need which exists and the experience and practical help which the Association can offer.

Conferences. The Association welcomes opportunities for personal contact with private individuals and with representatives of national and local organizations. During the past year many people have called at the office each month for advice and literature. Through these conferences the Association has been able to make available the fund of information in its files and library. Further, the personal relationships established by the conferences have been the means in a number of instances of establishing closer cooperation with other national organizations.

Publications

Pamphlets. Mention has already been made of the wide circulation given pamphlets and other literature published by the Association for which each month there has been a growing demand. Over 180 pamphlets and handbooks have now been published, and throughout the year bulletins relating to various phases of recreation were sent superintendents of recreation and boards of directors.

The Playground. This, the monthly magazine of the Association, has contained during the past twelve months a number of articles in serial forms, which have aroused much interest. These have included a series of articles by Constance D'Arcy Mackay containing suggestions for the Pilgrim Tercentenary celebration. These suggestions, sent out in mimeographed form, have been widely used. Other articles appearing serially have been "Comrades in Play" suggestions for recreational activities which young men and young women can enjoy together, later reprinted in booklet form; and "What We Did on a Summer Playground in Chicago," a series of articles of special value for playground workers. To meet the increasing demand for suggestions on organizing recreational work in industrial communities THE PLAYGROUND published a number of practical studies along this line.

The Year Book. The Year Book shows the progress of the recreation movement throughout the country and has come to be recognized as one of the most important of the Association's publications. The development of the recreation movement in America can thus be traced. Many cities are helped each year by the information regarding appropriations, bond issues, and methods of organization and administration in effect in other cities.

Photographs, Cuts and Lantern Slides. During the past year the Association has added largely to its supply of photographs and magazine cuts on recreational subjects. Many of the photographs have been used as publicity material in local campaigns for funds. Cuts have been loaned for use in books, pamphlets and a state syllabus for physical education. Each month requests have been received for the Association's lantern slide sets to help in creating sentiment in favor of community recreation.

Athletic Badge Tests. The Association has continued to promote the use of athletic badge tests prepared a number of years ago by a committee of experts. These tests are being widely used in schools and on playgrounds and have been successfully tried out by workers with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Chautauquas and Community Service. The athletic badge tests for girls have been endorsed by the Girls' Reserves of the YWCA and tests for both boys and girls have been included by the National Tuberculosis Association as qualifications to be met by Modern Health Crusaders. The number of girls' badges sent out in the past twelve months exceeds that of any previous period, and more boys attained a minimum standard of physical efficiency during that time than in any similar period prior to 1920.

THE EVER GROWING DEMAND

Throughout America the unsatisfied desire of all the people for an opportunity for a greater degree of participation with others in leisure time interests is bringing pressure to bear upon municipal governments to provide channels for expression which is unescapable. Everywhere municipalities are finding it necessary to increase their recreational facilities and activities. During 1920, 465 cities conducted 4,293 playgrounds and recreation centers under leadership, an expenditure of $7,199,428.66—an increase over the previous year of 9.7% in the number of cities, 8% in the number of centers and of more than half a million dollars in expenditures. A tremendous development in community buildings is noted, 117 cities reporting on such buildings; 60 of these cities place a total valuation of almost $12,000,000 on the buildings. In view of this expansion never before has there been greater need in this country for the guidance and leadership which the experience of the Association enables it to give.

In foreign countries, particularly in sections suffering most terribly from the devastation of war, there is nothing of greater importance, several authorities have declared, than that the war sufferers shall be given, through opportunities for recreation, the feeling that life itself is worth while.

In the face of these tremendous forces the Playground and Recreation Association of America is asking that its contributors shall redouble their efforts to make possible an increased support in order that no legitimate request for help shall be unanswered, no channel of usefulness neglected which has in it the possibility of making the lives of human beings happier and more efficient.

Recreation Facts

The following facts regarding progress in the recreation movement during 1920 were secured through correspondence with all cities in the United States having a population of 5,000 or more as well as with a number of smaller communities where playground and recreation centre activities are being conducted. Of the 1,805 cities thus covered information was received from 1,048 regarding the status of their work.

As has been emphasized in previous years, any consideration of the facts recorded in the Year Book must take into account the difficulty of securing adequate reports. For example, eighty-nine of the cities which reported supervised playground work conducted in 1919 failed to reply to communications, although in most instances the work in these cities is still in progress. In addition, seventy-one cities sent reports indicating that some form of work is under way, although the reports were not complete enough for publication.

CENTRES UNDER PAID LEADERSHIP

The tables on Playground and Recreation Centre Statistics for 1920 are based on reports from 465 cities where work is being conducted under paid leadership. In these cities, 4,293 centres were maintained, an increase of 324 over the number reported the previous year. Seventeen of the cities which appeared in the 1919 Year Book report their activities discontinued.

In addition to the 465 cities maintaining work under paid leadership the following centres are reported:

Playgrounds and Recreation Centres	No. of Cities
Unsupervised centres .....	40
School playgrounds .....	64
School playgrounds with special paid leaders....	4

Centres Established During 1920

An increase of 22 per cent is noted in the number of playgrounds and recreation centres established in 1920. Thirty-eight cities are known to have inaugurated work. Twelve cities indicate that ground has recently been purchased and construction is under way. Other communities report more or less definite plans for development along recreational lines, fifty-one suggesting the possibility of organized activities next season.

Playgrounds for Colored Children

During 1920 seventy-nine cities maintained recreation centres for the exclusive use of colored children. A number of others report their grounds used by both white and colored children.

EMPLOYED WORKERS

A most gratifying increase is noted in the number of paid workers employed during 1920. A comparison with the 1919 figures follows:

	1920	1919
Men .....	4,149	2,978
Women .....	6,069	5,065
Total .....	10,218	8,043

This total includes 2,011 workers who were employed the year round in 162 cities, an increase of twenty-seven per cent over last year. In addition, 2,398 caretakers were employed on grounds.

Training Classes for Workers

The number of cities conducting training classes for employed workers continues to show an increase. Eighty-one cities report the maintenance of such classes during 1920, thirty-eight of these having a total enrolment of 1,472. Nine cities report 203 volunteer workers enrolled in training classes. Twenty-six cities report that civil service examinations are a requirement in filling recreation positions.

FINANCES

Sources of Support

From year to year a steady increase is observed in the number of cities having municipally supported recreation centres. The sources of support of the 465 cities appearing in the Year Book table are summarized as follows:

Municipal funds .....	249
Private funds .....	103
State funds .....	1

Expenditures

Four hundred and forty-three cities report a total expenditure of $7,199,429.66 in the maintenance of their work during the last fiscal year. This figure shows an increase of $521,519.00 over the amount reported in 1919. Of this total $3,091,536.28 represents the amount expended for salaries, an increase of $414,049.23 which corresponds to the rise in the number of employed workers. Twenty-two cities failed to report expenditures.

Bond Issues

Although the number and total amount of bond issues voted during the past year does not equal the unusual total for 1919, a number of interesting facts are reported:

City	Amount of Bond Issue

Donated Playgrounds

Thirty-two cities reported playgrounds donated during the year 1920, in several instances two and even three playgrounds having been donated to one city. The total value of the property donated in the twenty-eight cities reporting the valuation was $582,114.37.

In addition to actual property donated many gifts were made by individuals and organizations toward the maintenance of recreational facilities in the community. In one small Southern city, where bonds had been issued to the amount of $15,000, an additional $15,000 was raised by popular subscription. In a New England city $15,000 was donated by an industrial organization to equip a playground purchased by the city. The Rotary Club of another city raised $1,000 among its membership with which to purchase playground equipment.

Following is a list of cities reporting property donated to the city for playground purposes:

Helena, Ark. ....	$15,000	Springfield, Mass. ....	30,000

LENGTH OF PLAYGROUND TERM

One hundred and fifty-seven cities report a total of 208 year round centers conducted under paid leadership. An analysis of these reports shows an increase of thirty-three in the number of cities, but a slight decrease in the number of centres. Thirty-eight cities report eighty-nine year round workers, but do not indicate the number of centres maintained, while on the other hand twenty-six cities report twenty-nine year round centers, but fail to mention the employment of year round workers.

During the summer season 2,632 centres were conducted in 384 cities, an increase of eleven per cent over the previous year. One hundred and one cities had their centres open on Sundays; 188 on holidays.

ATTENDANCE

Reports from 391 cities show a total average daily attendance of 935,582 at summer centres. One hundred and fifty-one cities report a total average daily attendance of 437,683 at winter centres, an increase of 124 per cent over 1919.

EVENING WORK

One hundred and fifty-nine cities report a total average attendance of 162,408 at 897 playgrounds open and lighted evenings under leadership.

A greatly increased attendance at school buildings used as evening recreation centres is noted. One hundred and sixty-six cities report 823 school buildings so used. A total average attendance of 889, 119 is reported by 114 of these cities.

SPECIAL PLAY ACTIVITIES

Special play activities in connection with the recreation work of various cities are reported as follows:

STREETS FOR PLAY AND COASTING

Reports indicate that cities are successfully making use of streets as play centres. Twenty-nine report streets closed for play, seventeen of this number having play leaders. In addition, ninety-six cities report streets closed for coasting.

COMMUNITY BUILDINGS FOR RECREATION PURPOSES

The increase in the number of community buildings, and in the number of persons making use of their facilities, is gratifying. One hundred and seventeen cities report a total of 300 community buildings used exclusively for recreation. These figures show an increase of twenty-five in the number of cities and fifty in the number of buildings. The total average attendance at seventy-five of these centres was 332, 196 which is almost twice the number per centre reported last year. Sixty of the cities report the value of their recreation buildings, the total of which is $11,993,272. This figure also shows a large proportionate increase over the 1919 report.

In addition to the community buildings already in operation, several cities report definite plans for erecting such buildings. In one city the community church is backing a plan for a $25,000 community building to be used as a recreation centre for the city. In another instance where the city has recently purchased a community house a fund of $25,000 has been willed to the city to help maintain this centre. Five other cities report funds for the erection of community centres appropriated or donated committees formed for promoting such features or actual property purchased.

PUBLIC SWIMMING POOLS, BATHS AND BATHING BEACHES

The following totals are given for cities reporting on the maintenance of public swimming pools, baths and bathing beaches:

	Cities Reporting	Total
Swimming Pools .....	165	359
Public Baths .....	84	169
Bathing Beaches .....	144	260

With the exception of the swimming pools, the number of which is the same as that reported in 1919, these figures all show an increase over last year. An interesting report comes from Flint, Michigan, to the effect that two swimming pools at a cost of $65,000 each have recently been constructed, and that at least one more is planned for the coming year.

*The statistics on population of cities of 5,000 and over have been taken from the U.S. Census Report for 1920. The population for the smaller towns has been taken from Doan's Estimated Population of the United States for 1919.

1 One of these centers is a swimming pool.

2 Teachers alternate evenings and are paid extra for playground work. One teacher is in charge each evening.

3 This amount includes salaries.

4 The report sent by this city indicates that the year round centers and workers reported are under the jurisdiction of the Board of Education. Although in some instances playgrounds were conducted during the summer months under paid leadership, the centers open during the school year refer in the majority of cases to organized playground work in connection with the school program.

5 Three of these centers are swimming pools.

6 These centers are school gardens where supervised play is a part of the regular program.

7 This amount includes the total expenditure of the Park Commission.

8 The Park Commission of Essex County maintains playgrounds in Newark, Orange, East Orange, Bloomfield, Montclair and Irvington.

9 The Park Commission of Hudson County maintains playgrounds in North Hudson, Bayonne, Harrison, Jersey City and Hoboken.

10 The Water Commission conducts one swimming pool under supervision.

11 Twenty of these centers are swimming pools.

The instruments of the orchestra by sight, sound, and story

A constructive aid for teaching music in the schools

This plan of orchestral instrument study consists of:

18 charts (14" x 22"), showing the instruments in absolute accuracy of color and detail;

Two Victor double-face records (Nos.
35670 and 35671 or 35236 and 35237), which give the tone color of every instrument in appropriate excerpts;

A handbook, giving full description and history of the instruments and their uses by composers.

These three units together offer for the first time in the history of public school music a practical means for the complete study of the instruments of the orchestra by sight, sound, and story.
